

[illegible]

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

10 The request parameters may include a resource requirement and an execution interval. If the task scheduling request is granted, then the allocation manager adds the corresponding task to a prioritized task table. A scheduling manager may then reference the task table to efficiently identify the next task for scheduling and execution on the electronic device..